

---

What can one people do?

Posted by Rohitpatel - 2007/07/02 18:31

---

For those of us who understand that climate change is happening whether we like it or not, what ideas do people have for individual action?

=====

Re:What can one people do?

Posted by drew888 - 2007/07/07 00:50

---

Everyone has to force governments to start implementing a strategy. Some of the rich countries of the World seem to be dragging their feet when it comes to doing something about it. So people need to contact their politicians for sure.

Using solar and wind energy is definately beneficial and if you can afford to install it then it would even save you money in the long run.

Cut down your driving when you can and car pool for those that commute to work.

=====

Re:What can one people do?

Posted by Rohitpatel - 2007/07/07 16:10

---

Well I really like your second idea because almost 90% of total population have a good chance to get energy from wind and solar. There are some other sources to which may help us.

Also rich countries are also think about this and we seen it G8 meetings about global warming.

Post edited by: Rohitpatel, at: 2007/07/07 08:10

=====

Re:What can one people do?

Posted by hazephase - 2007/07/07 18:42

---

One person can do so much , that he can effect a 100 people , all great changes have started with one person , the world war was started with one person's greed

=====

Re:What can one people do?

Posted by Rohitpatel - 2007/07/08 14:04

---

Yes if someone starts something good for our Earth and than many people will join him. As you mention World War, someone should start this campion to save the Earth.

=====

Re:What can one people do?

Posted by James - 2007/09/03 04:23

---

To be honest the best thing that anyone can do is to save energy before thinking about generating it. This means electricity, heating and water.

=====

Re:What can one people do?

Posted by Archbob - 2007/10/02 16:52

---

You can like walk and take buses instead of driving everywhere. Most of the pollution comes from cars. You don't need to drive if the supermarket is like 3 blocks away, you have things called legs.

---