
Why Do More Not Have Faith

Posted by mareika - 2007/10/17 10:37

Why is the whole world in worship of Western practises? Medicine, lifestyle-why is it that so many seem to feel that the lazy, drugged up, toxic life of the West is good?

I try as best I can to avoid those things and our life is better for it.

=====

Re:Why Do More Not Have Faith

Posted by psychimalc - 2007/10/20 19:46

There are several reasons for your question, one of them being the media

=====

Re:Why Do More Not Have Faith

Posted by Psybok - 2007/10/27 02:55

I have to wonder what you have against the western world, my friend. If you do not want to follow western culture no one is forcing you to do so. Why do people "worship" the western ways as you say? Who knows. Personal choice, I would guess.

=====

Re:Why Do More Not Have Faith

Posted by lilbit - 2008/07/10 18:04

I don't think everyone worships the western ways. There are a lot of good people too. Te ones that throw their lives away with drugs just don't care enough about themselves. And the stars and singers make it all look so great too to our teens.

=====

Re:Why Do More Not Have Faith

Posted by brother - 2008/07/28 02:25

Good question and this fact frustrates me too. We human animals have the ability to think and to communicate and most use these abilities to manipulate for the service of their own egos. The ego and greed are the problem, added to with the problem of society programming. Programming of our minds by society is self-defeating programming. Popular opinions rule and the majority in control is an insane group, firmly set on a course of destruction.

It does my heart good any time I witness someone like you who dares to question the establishment and their ways. When I say the establishment, I refer to established beliefs and customs, which are quite evidently insane... Just look at the national debt of America and the crime rates, the people in prison and the unsafe or uncomfortable conditions in our "society". This is not sanity!

It is self-serving ego driven animal behavior fueled by greed. That is the problem you wonder about.

Society, government and popular religions contaminate our minds with what I believe to be false data that causes these behaviors in humans. The government makes laws allowing alcohol because of pressure from the majority, which is insane. The government and society pressure people to conform – to conform to insanity. Anyone who dares to be different is ridiculed or punished, even those who practice things that are not a threat to the comfort of the majority. The "Witch Burnings" of long ago are an example. Most of those "Witches" were merely people who practiced herbal remedies and other practices that were different from Western behavior. Not a threat and not used for bad reasons, but condemned and punished.

Even Chiropractors were condemned by the medical society and limited by the government because they helped people without using chemical drugs. During that time period, just a few short years ago, I was depending upon, and my life was saved by a Naturopath Doctor. What chemical drugs could not do, some strange procedures did very well to save me from death due to Asthma. Instead of a strong injection of Insulin, this Doctor applied heat, some electrical device, massage with a vibrator and a chiropractic treatment, and then the muscles in my chest relaxed and the restriction went away so I could breath. I miss Dr. Roulon Allred – he was assonated by a rival polygamist cult leader... A very kind and loving man – doing a lot of good for many people and his charge for services was very reasonable. He served mankind well. He did practice polygamy but this did not hurt people – he was merely not conforming to the insane society. I met several of his wives and they were all kind and loving and there was never an unkind word or atmosphere in his office or in his home. When I first visited him, his practice was in his home. He had a lot of good loving advice and always made our day better with his kind behavior. His wives were not underage either. I doubt that he would support the underage marriages that many polygamists practice. His moral values were very good.

I have been acquainted with several polygamists and you get some good and some bad. I must say that they do much better in the area of sharing and loving each other with respect, than do the common humans in this materialistic, dog-eat-dog, jealous society. Wherever greed and jealousy – the competition nature of humans – are less prevalent, harmony and peace increase. Our capitalistic society is not in harmony with love, peace, respect, logic and sharing. Our government would not thrive unless they create and support competition and greed so that more money circulates for them to tax...

Eliminate material ownership, and greed will die. Stimulate the desires of humans to have more – to own more – and greed grows. When greed grows, more money flows, and when money flows, the government taxes it and profits. We need to understand the reality in the economic plans of our government here. I am speaking of the secret underlying real plan, not the illusions they provide for us.

At one time, people lived and grew food and had businesses all within easy traveling distance by horse. Then, the government started zoning laws. This placed cities and businesses in one area, housing in another, and farming far away. This plan made more transportation necessary and increased our dependence on fossil fuels. When fossil fuels are used, the government can monitor the use and impose taxes for profit.

The technology does exist that allow us to create alternative fuels but the government subdues this to protect their own profits. Natural herbal remedies can do much better for healing and prevention of disease, but the government depends on income from chemical drugs that make us dependent on more chemical drugs. The government makes it illegal to claim that any natural food can cure any disease, unless the FDA approves it.

For years, some European countries have used Stevia extract as a natural sweetener. This is far sweeter than sugar and it actually stabilizes blood sugar. Being a follower of more natural remedies for years, I was using this natural sweetener and had more energy and did not crave sugar at all. You see, sugar is habit forming, but the government approves it because it causes diseases, to include obesity, that requires medication and the government can profit from chemical medications. The government stepped in and made it unlawful to sell for use as a food product. Thankfully, through some manipulation of laws, it could be sold to apply to the skin and that is then what the herbal company did – but I used it in my tea still. I had to buy it with some other formula, and this was totally useless to use in the manner advertised, but it made it possible to buy. The real use remained an inside secret and no one was allowed to say one word of the real beneficial use in fear of the government. Yet it is “believed to be” a great cure for diabetes in other countries, and they “claim” to have scientific proof. (I put those extra words in there to protect myself.)

The same thing happens when it comes to alternative energy sources. I can make a fuel to run my car by distilling corn into alcohol – gasohol, and it can be done with a solar still. However, ATF controls this. Now, thank my lucky stars, it appears that there is another method to create fuel that will supplement gas at the rate of about 50% and I believe I can make this without government control.

Imagine this – water that is 4 times more hydrogenating than regular water. A gas that allows deep-sea divers to dive deeper and surface faster and it costs less than what is now used. A gas flame that does not consume oxygen from the atmosphere – you can burn it in enclosed areas and the exhaust is water... Imagine hundreds of beneficial uses for this gas, some seeming magical. Imagine that this gas can be produced from water, and imagine that it will supplement gasoline in engines at the rate of about 50% with better performance and less polluting exhaust... Impossible you say? That is what many are saying, and the government doesn't seem to be interested in developing it.

With this gas, (If it is real) and a little intelligence from a spiritually minded and morally balanced person – me – a very strong and beneficial self-sustaining community can be born to thrive. I am seeking some like-minded, fair and morally balanced people to join with me. I do not wish to allow greed to dominate – self-serving greed. There is enough profit potential in my plans to supply thousands of people with a good lifestyle of comfort and harmony. Our efforts will benefit the Universe and that is not a fantasy.

Join me with 10 people, some with some with a little cash to invest and some with property to live and farm on, and this can happen. In all, we need about $10,000 and 10 acres of land to get it rolling best, but it can be done with less. The land must have sufficient water and the right to this water, and it must be zoned for living and farming. We must be able to have several families living on this land – no single-family restrictions. That is it – and in a year or less, our group income will be astounding. We will be able to expand quickly by buying more land and we will pay cash from our profits.

I am sorry that I cannot freely publish all of the details. I will reveal the details only after non-disclosure agreements are signed. I do freely publish some of the details for the benefit of society, but other details are reserved for my close group only.

This plan is not some off-the-wall insanity like one I viewed, which included space ships and underground cities with inter planetary travel... This is all very realistic and I have already had positive experience by putting some of this into use. I had one acre of farmland and had a lease on another 20 acres where I put some of this into production on a small scale. A greedy wife, together with a manipulating attorney and some terrible lies, managed to take it all away from me. I have since learned how to legally protect all of my assets, and those of our group, from any such attempt. We cannot loose our assets from lawsuits of any type with this totally legal procedure.

If I cannot find some partners to participate, I can do this on my own, but first I will offer it to share. This is because I am not greedy and some help would quicken the process. I can hire the help in due time if I do it on my own. Your choice – I will share, or I will do it on my own.

Re:Why Do More Not Have Faith

Posted by brother - 2008/08/28 02:35

Wow!... Hi there awake person. I will tell you what is killing faith - it is the illusions of false religions of the western world causing great disappointment so people are turning totally away from their spiritual realization in frustration.

I was there – I tried so many “religious beliefs” and found only guilt and frustration. Eventually I turned away from the fact that we were all created by something and began to think we are on the earth to suffer for something we did wrong, possibly in another lifetime.

Then I started to think – a creator with so much wisdom to be able to create all in this Universe and in other Universes – how could one such as this be so foolish as to punish someone in revenge, which is what it would be if we are being punished for something we know nothing of... That doesn't make sense! So I looked further – outside of western religions into eastern religions and even into spiritualism and eventually I connected with The Laws of The Universe, through an awakening caused by the production of “The Secret”.

Anyway, you are not alone – I was born here in the middle of the headquarters of the most dominant and judgmental “Christian” “church” there is... In Salt Lake City, Utah, and I share your frustrations in the ignorance that allows otherwise free thinking humans to blindly follow such insane behaviors.

I am actually thankful to be living in the middle of their headquarters because that gives me a good opportunity to study these religious zombies and to identify the methods of hypnotism and fascination that hold them mentally captive. I know they are hypnotized because they react so predictably by certain stimuli... My brother – a “high priest” has a reaction to the word “evolution” – a very negative reaction, nearly hostile... It is as if that word is an enemy to him when it merely means to grow and improve... It seems evident that the word “evolution” in his hypnotized mind is directly connected to Darwin, who had an opinion that differed with “religious” beliefs... Even his “church” (restructured cult) evolved from having multiple wives and persecuting blacks to having one wife and acceptance of blacks. They evolved due to force!

I call “them” “The church of judgment and justification” because that is what they do... Against their religion to gamble, so sister-in-law says it is not gambling when she goes to Nevada – it is recreation... Maybe prostitution is recreation – you think? And alcohol and drugs... recreation and family activities... “They” have more excuses than all of the politicians combined! But – I was judged when I was going to play a game of billiards – in a place with no alcohol... But it was Sunday – their day to pretend to be holy and ask their “god” to forgive them for their greedy actions they are involved in the other 6 days of the week. How can they mistreat people and then ask “god” to forgive them??? How about them asking the people they wronged for forgiveness – but that would be logic, wouldn't it?

Friends, I stand up for what is right logically, not what is right according to habits, customs and traditions. For The Truth – the “bare naked truth” visit; or e-mail to me at; brother (at) reborn.com

<http://thelaws.ning.com>

<http://www.freewebs.com/thelaws>

My book is upcoming and I publish portions on these sites as well as in the forum and discussions (two areas there) of Humanity Team Worldwide Community. <http://htwwcommunity.ning.com> Tell them Brother sent you and say hi to me there. There was just not enough participation on the holistic site, so I formed my own and joined this other one where there is action and “some” good discussions as well about our spiritual nature and more. Want to know what makes us tick – just click!

I am searching for a financial partner for my books and for other efforts that will be very profitable... I know the truth and I have the guts to tell it... Just add some financial aid and we will get rich together.

