The question now comes to be where do you fill this up?

I really do not know how this will go in to each of the gas stations. Anyone seen a place that recharges electric cars?

From small acorns oak trees grow:P
apparently the company making these makes a reference to Starbucks

I suppose the real issue is the infrastructure. If there's not an easy way to fill up then people are going to worry about what happens if they are stuck in the middle of a strange county.
